Step 2: Find the boxes

Now that you have the information you need, go find Sunny Side Up's "National Symbol of Wales" box. Then head further down the trail until you get to the 6 mile marker.

To find the original leek-spin girl: Go A (____) steps WEST on the trail from the 6 mile marker. There on your right (north side of the trail) are a number of discarded railroad ties under the brush. Go into the brush and find the one that is sticking back the most from the trail in a N/S direction. Lift the north end of this tie to reveal the box. Replace accordingly. (There is some leaf and wood debris hiding the box along the side of the RR tie as well.)

To find the techno leek-spin girl: Go B (____) steps EAST on the trail from the 6 mile marker. There on your right (south side of the trail) is a rockfall consisting of rocks that are breaking off the underside of a larger rock. Carefully climb the hill to the large rock. Look under the large triangular rock that has broken off under the east side of the larger rock. Note that other rocks and leaves are used to bury and hide the box some more. Replace accordingly.

Any maintenance you can do to keep this boxes in tip-top shape, as well as status reports, would be appreciated.
